Cargo Security

There are IT based systems, such as global positioning systems (GPS) and those using radio frequency identification (RFID) they are expensive investment. The key is being able to track trucks or trailers anywhere in the transportation network. Both freight carriers and insurance groups estimates that theft cargo is responsible for over $10 billion in merchandise losses each year. We all know that cargo theft is a huge problem for the transportation industry. Motor carriers experience 85% of all cargo theft. Most states are getting their state and local police engaged in fighting cargo crime.
